Greetings:

As part of our ongoing commitment to provide the very best health and wellness products, Plexus Worldwide® just revealed a brand-new product Plexus VitalBiome™ to help you and your family continue their journey to better health and happiness.

Real health & happiness begins in your gut. The delicate balance of good and bad microbes in your gut (your “microbiome”) can affect everything, but could your gut microbiome be at risk?

70% of immune cells live in the gut. Gut microbes keep us healthy by training our immune system to fight off invaders. This boosts your body’s ability to deal with toxins, allergens or harmful microorganisms. In addition, 90% of mood-boosting serotonin is produced in your gut. Gut microbes play an important role in the production of neurotransmitters like GABA, dopamine, and mood-boosting serotonin. Good microbes have the ability to reduce feelings of stress and anxiety.

Your microbiome has a big impact on your health, and it’s under attack every day. Our modern diet, stress, poor sleep, environmental assaults and overuse of antibiotics damage the beneficial microbes in your gut, putting your microbiome at risk. In fact, sixty percent (60%) of Americans live in a state of dysbiosis, which means bad microbes have taken over, causing your gut microbiome to get out of balance. Dysbiosis can cause problems that affect your daily life, like bloating, constipation, bad breath, and excess gas. No one wants to deal with that!

The good news is that probiotics can help restore gut balance and help optimize your health. Studies show that probiotics inhibit harmful microbes, aid digestion and nutrient absorption, contribute to immune function, help your metabolism, and even improve your mood.

Enclosed is a document that outlines the key benefits of this exciting new product and includes a list of the best natural ingredients.
